

Operations Audit Checklist

A simple audit of your inquiry, booking, and onboarding paths.

Use this checklist to identify where a prospect or client may be waiting, repeating information, or relying on you to remember the next step. Tick what is already true. The gaps that remain are where your client journey loses clarity.

01 Inquiry path

Where inquiries arrive, and what happens after they do.

- ☐ Where do inquiries arrive?
- ☐ Is every inquiry recorded in one visible place?
- ☐ Is there a defined first response?
- ☐ Is it clear who owns the response?
- ☐ Is there a follow-up rule if the person does not reply?
- ☐ Is there a clear outcome: booked, paused, unsuitable, or closed?
- ☐ Can someone else understand the current status?

02 Booking path

From interest to a confirmed booking.

- ☐ Does the prospect know what to do after showing interest?
- ☐ Is the booking link current?
- ☐ Is the intake form connected to the booking step?
- ☐ Are confirmation and reminder messages defined?
- ☐ What happens when someone starts but does not complete booking?
- ☐ Who handles rescheduling or exceptions?
- ☐ Is the next step after booking documented?

03 Client onboarding path

From acceptance or payment to the first session.

- ☐ What triggers onboarding?
- ☐ Is payment or acceptance confirmed?
- ☐ Is the welcome message sent consistently?
- ☐ Are forms, agreements, and preparation materials easy to find?

- ☐ Is the client record created or updated?
- ☐ Is the first session scheduled?
- ☐ Does the coach know when the client is ready?
- ☐ What happens if information is missing or late?

04 Ownership and documentation

Could another person follow the process?

- ☐ Does every step have a named owner?
 - ☐ Is the next action visible?
 - ☐ Are manual steps intentional?
 - ☐ Are systemized steps documented?
 - ☐ Are exceptions included?
 - ☐ Is the SOP stored somewhere accessible?
 - ☐ Is there a clear handover point?

Interpretation

Your first build should address the biggest bottleneck. Look at where you answered no, or it depends, most often.

Mostly inquiry gaps

Start with an Inquiry Path Build.

Mostly booking gaps

Start with a Booking Path Build.

Mostly post-payment gaps

Start with a Client Onboarding Build.

Gaps across all stages

Begin with a Client Journey Review to find the starting point.

Tell me which stage is creating the most friction.
